in person meetings

Actually use the website/system to show what our kids are doing everyday

Teachers can discuss with students upcoming events to excite the children about their participation and understanding of the upcoming event.

direct email

email is the best

Paperwork sent in homework folder

I liked the meetings with principals as well

print out

It depends on the urgency of the information. If it's a school closure, definitely text me.

Something like the friday flyers with clear, concise issues not just events.

Teacher

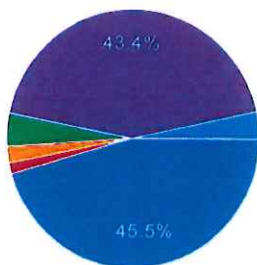

Emails with key information in the email itself, rather than a link to a clunky website.
